DIST. SCHOOL HONORED

Some of Our Prominent Men Attended Old District School in Knox
County

We herewith give some of the history of Old School District 47, which is located on Brush Creek, and give you some of the names of the men who have gotten their common school education there, and have gone to other schools where they have graduated, and what some of them are and have been.

The above information was given the Editor by Hon. James B. Trosper and James C. Marsee, two of the oldest citizens who have lived among the people of that community, and give same correctly.

Beginning on the older ones, we will call your attention to the late Captain Stephen Golden, known to many as Judge Golden, he received his common school education at that place, afterwards was a Captain of his company in the Civil War, and was County Judge of Knox County and a lawyer of renown, he was also a Minister of the Baptist Church for many years, and a man of power in the pulpit. He died at a good old age, and was buried with Masonic honors.

We want to mention too, that at this same place Dency King received his education, he was Sheriff of Knox County for one or two terms, he was Master Commissioner of the Knox Circuit Court for many years, and was a member of the Kentucky Legislature, many of the older people remember him.

W. F. Westerfield, who is now living near Artemus, went to that school, he has been Surveyor of Knox County for four or five terms, was Master Commissioner for many years, and now has the proud boast that he is the oldest member living of Mountain Lodge No. 187, Free and Accepted Masons, having been initiated 49 years ago, he is still sprightly and supple and follows his calling as surveyor.

Coming down to the younger set, we have from that same school district Hon. S. L. Lewis, the Sheriff of our County, he too chased the bumble bee through the meadows during recess, and studied the old "Webster Blue Back Spelling Book" during school hours.

And there is Hon. Caleb Powers who attended that school, and after being passed to the degree of A. B., at the Williamsburg College was elected to the office of Superintendent of Schools of Knox County, he then went to Valparaiso, Ind., where he graduated in law, was then elected Secretary of State, and after eight years spent in prison, he was pardoned by the Governor of Kentucky, and was vindicated by the voters of the Eleventh Congressional District by sending him to Congress twice.

B. C. Lewis, the Republican Nominee for the office of Senator from the 17th. Senatorial District of Kentucky also attended that school, and afterwards forced his way through the firing line and became principal of the High School of this city, then as Principal, Vice-President, Instructor and many other high positions in many of the Schools and Colleges and will be one of the law makers in the next General Assembly.

John L. Powers, who is now President of one of the great Educational Societies of Pennsylvania, and who has charge of one of Pennsylvania's Largest Business Colleges can look back to the old school room on Brush Creek and feel proud that he too attended that school.

There is Uncle Charley Bays, Republican Nominee for the office of Representative of the 69th. Legislative District, who has caused much comment, was educated in that same old school house, and in the same old district, he too will help to make our laws when the next session of the law makers meet.

Starling M. Perkins, who later attended Bryant & Stratton Business College at Louisville and graduated from that institution, who is now Assistant Cashier and Bookkeeper for the National Bank of John A. Black, attended the same old school.

Barris Clotfelter, who later graduated from Bryant & Stratton College and is now with the Trosper Coal Company, taking care of its books, got his com-

NOTICE DANGEROUS COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

To the Physicians and heads of families of Knox County Ky.

The following rules, adopted by the State and County boards of health, governing dangerous communicable diseases are very important and must be complied with or the penalty of the law will be applied in every instance, rule 4 to 9.

Rule 4. Whenever any parent, guardian or other person having charge of the sick in his or her family or having charge of any one residing temporarily therein, shall know or suspect that such person or persons are affected with smallpox, diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, or other communicable disease dangerous to the public health, the person having supervision of the sick shall immediately give notice to the health officer within whose jurisdiction he or she may reside.

5. When any physician shall know or suspect that any person whom he called upon to visit has diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, or any other communicable disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice, together with the locality and description of the case, to the board of health within whose jurisdiction he may reside.

6. No parent, guardian or other person having control of any child or children shall allow or permit any such child or children to go from any house or building infected with diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, measles, or other communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to attend any church, Sunday school or public gathering, or to travel in any street car or public vehicle, vessel or steamer, or to appear on any highway or street without first procuring a permit from the board of health or its proper officer.

Rule 7. It shall be unlawful for any person to enter or leave any house or building infected with diphtheria, membranous croup, scarlet fever, or any communicable disease dangerous to the public health, to attend any church, public meeting or place of amusement, or to travel on any street car or public vehicle, vessel or steamer, or to travel or appear on any public street or highway, without first making a complete change of clothing and procuring a permit from the board of health of the jurisdiction.

Rule 8. No person who is, or has been recently, affected with diphtheria, membranous croup, smallpox, scarlet fever, or any communicable disease dangerous to public health, shall be permitted to travel or appear upon the public streets or highways, or to appear in any public place or gathering, or to travel in any public vehicle or vessel, until a certificate is made by the attending physician to the board of health within whose jurisdiction the case occurs, stating that all danger from contagion by reason of such disease is passed, and such certificate is approved and endorsed by said board of health.

mon school education in District 47.

We do not stop here, there is J. S. Trosper who graduated from Union College Business Department and who is now with the Greasy Creek Coal Company, and who is making good there, was also one of the boys who conceived through the teachings of the instructors of old School District 47 that there was something in the future for him.

There is Benjamin B. Golden, son of Stephen Golden above referred to that attended that school, and afterwards attended State University and graduated in the study of law, who today is one of the foremost lawyers in Kentucky.

There are many more that we could mention but we must not overlook the fact that Hon. Hiram H. Owens, who graduated from Williamsburg Institute and then attended Harvard College, one of the best law schools in the United States where he graduated, and not forgetting his native Mountain home and people but casting his lot here among them, he joined the law firm of Black & Black, now the firm of Black, Black & Owens one the best known law firms Eastern Kentucky, he too attended the same old school in District 47.

There are many others who attended that school who have made their mark in the world, but space will not permit us at this time to dwell longer on this subject.

Still Believe in Charms.
A London physician practicing in the poorer districts of that city says that 25 per cent of the children coming under his observation wear charms and amulets under their clothing.

Visits Odd Fellows Home

Mrs. John W. Hughes returned last Friday from a trip to Lexington where she visited officially the home prepared for the widows and little ones left in the world by the brothers of that society.

Mrs. Hughes is a past President of the Rebekah Assembly of Kentucky, and is one of the Board of Directors of the Home. She reports 161 orphans and 3 widows comfortably housed in that home, and that the little ones are being trained in the right way.

This is right person in the right place, as she has put in the most of her life in looking after the little ones. She began to teach school when she was but 14 years old, and has taught ever since, holding a first class certificate until recently when she was awarded a life certificate to teach in the any school in the State.

Mrs. Hughes is more than the ordinary woman, she is always on the alert, ready and willing at any and all times to do something for other people especially when one is in trouble. She is a hard worker in the Schools as well as in the Church and Lodge room, and can at any and all times make an extemporaneous speech on any occasion. She is now being urged by her many friends to enter the race for Superintendent of Common Schools of this County, and we go you one that if she makes up her mind to make the race, which we think she will do, she will make things hum, for she sure is a mixer.

James L. Westerfield, of Warren was in this city Tuesday.

"WANTED, TALL MEN"

Cornfields in Oklahoma
Must Look Like Forests

Tulsa, Okla., August 26—(Special). "Wanted: Tall men to gather corn." This advertisement which appeared in a country newspaper in this section attracted considerable attention and created much amusement until the author, a farmer, explained he meant just what he said.

"You see, I have a field of corn which looks like it is eighteen feet tall and I must either supply my help with ladders or else search the country for the tallest men I can find in order to gather it," he said.

That is some corn field, and we believe that we could send them some fellows from this country that could do the work if they would, take for example:

A. T. Sims, Dowis McDonald, L. T. Helton, Fred Jones, Russell Faulkner and few others like that, but there is something like this?

Found Dead

Last Saturday night, about dark a little boy passing along the road found the lifeless body of an old lady, above Dishman Springs, on Indian Creek. Coroner J. F. Dozier, was summoned to the scene, and it found to be the body of Lettie Wallace.

Mrs. Wallace was about 75 years old, and had been out to see some neighbors, and on her return home according to the Coroner Jury verdict, her death was due to heart failure, and died without anyone knowing anything about it until found by this little boy.

We could not get full details of the old lady, except that she was a widow and was well known to the people down on the river, she was a devout Christian being member of the Baptist Church for many years.

Gilbert-Lewis

Hon. Sam L. Lewis and Miss Martha Gilbert, of this city, were married in Knoxville last Wednesday. They slipped off making every one believe that they were going on a visit to Lexington.

Mr. Lewis is the Sheriff of Knox County, and is a fine business man and is making good in all his undertakings.

Miss Gilbert is the daughter of Mr. Ed. Gilbert who resides on Depot street, is a beautiful woman and one with more than the ordinary ambition and energy and we hasten to wish them a long and happy married life.

They returned to this city Saturday, and was met at the depot with their own automobile and went direct to the beautiful home of Mr. Lewis, where they were met and congratulated by there many friends and admirers. Who will be next?

Mitchell-Miller

Last Monday night Miss Lillian Mitchell, daughter of Jailer F. J. Mitchell, and Larkin Miller, son of L. C. Miller, of this city went to Cumberland Gap and were married.

These young folks are nineteen years old each, and both belong to industrious and well to do families and we predict that they will live a long, happy and prosperous life, and we extend congratulations.

Sold Out And Will Leave

Last Monday T. M. Richardson who lives on the fighting creek road about a half mile from town sold his place to T. C. Perkins of Brush Creek.

Mr. Richardson will leave soon for the State of Missouri, where he will make his future home, we hate to see these good people leave our County, but we will all soon be separated in some way or another.

THEIR WATERLOO

"Newspaper men, as usual, caught it in the neck at Saturday's primary election. Loving Gaires, who for years has given his best efforts to boosting his party, was defeated as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Col. W. P. Walton, the veteran Democratic editor, who has done more hard party work than any newspaper man in Kentucky, was turned down for Secretary of State; and A. R. Dyche, of London, a newspaper man of forty years experience was left at the post. This is truly discouraging to the craft, and causes many to come to the conclusion that the best policy is to make every candidate pay stiff rates for bringing themselves before the public, and cease to boost every man who sticks his head up for office. It is a well-known fact that nine in every ten successful candidates invariably tell the newspaper men to go to the devil, immediately after an election. Very few, indeed show any appreciation of favors shown by editors and seem to labor under the idea that the newspaper men are under obligations to whoop up things for the party and every son-of-a-gun who wants office. The defeat of the editors mentioned above is regretted by every newspaper man in Kentucky, but the boys will do their best by whooping it up for success in November.—Danville Messenger.

The Messenger might have come on down the line a little further where it could have found the manager of the Times run down on short notice and defeated for Legislature, by "Uncle Charley," and our neighbor "Red" Criscillis, of the Whitley Republican, lacking just enough votes to safely say that he will not be the next Circuit Court Clerk, and our good old Bro. "Henry Mac" of the Advocate laid on the cooling board indefinitely. This does not discourage us; we are still boosting.—Corbin Times.

Yes, all this is true about the boosting, I am still a Republican, and no man or set of men, no matter how they may take undue advantage of me and defeat me for a nomination, I am still of the opinion that all of the Republicans are not traitors, and that they are not of the kind that will pat you on the back and swear what a nice fellow you are and how strong they are for you, and then on the election day turn traitor.

But we want to correct Brother Price in so far as, "Henry Mac" being on the cooling board" he is not, and will be right on the job to trouble some one in the next election that comes around, he is not yet satisfied over the results, or rather the returns of the August primary, and will be found on the job letting the world know that he intends to help his friends and to spread the broad mantle of chairity over the indiscretions of the fellow who I have gone through rain and snow to help, and for whom I have gone through the mud to make speeches for and have spent of my worldly goods for their success. I am not on the cooling board, nor will I be for the next twenty years, unless I get the summons to come up higher.

Soon Forgotten

When the spirit has flown to the God who gave it, and we have bourn our loved one to the last resting place, and the clouds of the valley has fallen upon their coffin and we return to our home we then think that the grave shall ever be well kept, and that flowers shall grow thereon, and we then get busy after we have made that resolve to have the estate if there be one, settled up, in the meantime we go each Sunday afternoon and visit the place where that loved one rests; times change a little and then we go every other Sunday; finally we go once a year, usually May 30th, and then we stop going at all; the lovely flowers are untended and the weeds and grass soon have them smothered out.

We are surprised to go to our little Cemetery just outside of the city and there behold the sad plight, there are all kinds of weeds and grass, and sometimes briars as high as your head, and if one of the family of the one who owns that lot was to die, there would have to be a clearing and a brush burning before they could dig a grave.

It looks as though the people in and around this town have given themselves over entirely to idleness, and they all will soon have to either be buried or cremated, and each expects that when they are buried that someone will attend to their grave, if you expect this why don't you take some interest in the Cemetery, and set an example to the others so that they will at least think of you when you shall have gone to your final reward whatever it may?

We were in conversation with one of the members of the Civic League who called our attention to this terrible state of things in our Cemetery, and told the Editor that she had a complete list of all the people who have so grossly neglected their dead, and she said some of them were worth $100,000 and that she pre-posed if they did not clean up their lots to give a list of those who had not cleaned up the last resting place of their own dead. We are right behind the Ladies of the Civic League and we propose to let the world know who the people are who can and will not take an interest in the lots that hold their own people, who it looks as though they have forgotten.

Quarantine

Quarantine and the weather is playing the dickens with everything, we cannot even have a dog fight now and everything is going to the bow-wows. Well it may be hard on the boys, but it is the making of the community and we guess when the thing is over that we will know how to appreciate being free to come and go at will.

Some people need quarantining and some ought to be muzzled with a steel muzzle, with a combination lock on the hold-on-strap, and the combination forever lost. We know of some people who are so infernal mean that they steal from one of their pockets and put it in another, and there are some others that are so afraid of doing wrong that they will not do anything.

Some of the things that the Doctors or some one else ought to put a ban on, is the liars, you can lock against a thief but you cannot lock against a liar, the tattler, the one that is continually going the rounds and asking the question, "have you heard the latest?" and then proceed to besmear some good girls character or try to tear the very heart strings from some woman or mans breast, and break up a good and happy home, such people as this ought to be banished from society.

And there is another class that ought to be attended to and that is the old she devil, that will tag around after a man, and possibly a man that has a grown up family and undertake to tear him from the one that he promised before God and man that he would love and cherish until death, and cause that man to neglect his family at home, and bring poverty and disgrace to that home that was once happy and prosperous. And the man too, that is so low as to leave that same loving and confiding wife and little ones who look to him for love and protection and go off after some old "hag" that is lower down in the scale of humanity than the Devil himself would have them be.

Some people say that the Doctors have too much authority, well they have a great deal of authority, but we will go the assertion that the Doctors are as a rule are good men, and the very best men we have, and if they had the power they would put a lock on the lips of some of these old lantern jawed, scissor bill she devils that are continually on the pad, telling everything they hear and magnifying everything that is done and said and try to make a mountain out of a little mole-hole, and suffer as keenly as any brute, is capable of bearing, just to have some kind of a dirty sensational gossip to tell their colleagues.

The Doctors ought to hang out a red rag over all the seats on public square and warn all the town loafers that these seats are for the man who has worked until his limbs and back and are in need of rest, and that if these common every-day loafers around town don't get out and go to work, they will be taken up and sold.

When we see a thing with our own eyes we know it without some darn fool telling us about it; we see and we know that we will all be old and gray headed before Knox County has any pikes.

RUTH LAW LAWLESS SKIMMER OF THE SKY

With George Mayland, the "Miraculous Human Fly"

RUTH LAW.

RUTH LAW is "such a little queen," but she makes her big brothers of the wide blue sky sit up in their mono and bi-planes and take notice when she sails into the far reaches of the empyrean and does stunts that even a bird would not dream of doing. And yet she has been flying only two years, is one of only two women fliers in the country and is still in her teens. She is just an ambitious, daring, feminine little slip who has become enamored of aerial work, does not know the meaning of fear and who, while modestly deprecating what is known as "insane" or sensational flying and who preaches the beauty and commendability of scientific flying, yet skims and darts and spirals and dives and drives through the air in such dizzy fashion that her every appearance is the supreme sensation of the day.

Undoubtedly evidently runs in the law family, for Ruth is a sister to the famous Redman Law, champion air man, high diver and motion picture sensationalist, whose doings have furnished the press with special stories galore. Not satisfied with the achievements she accomplishes alone, Ruth has secured another intrepid soul in George Mayland, a parachute jumper, who goes up for 2,000 feet or over in the "Air Queen's" machine, creeps out on the crossed wires under the plane, cuts loose his chute from the body of the car and, with the airship going sixty or seventy miles an hour, drops 500 feet before he dares let his frail support umbrella open and carry him to the earth 1,500 feet.

Rushing at a rate too terrific for even an express train to rival, the effect of this sudden lightening of the madly careening airship, outlined like a shooting star against the far sky, is absolutely awesome, and spectators momentarily lose breath and speech until the little flier and the big car right themselves and triumphantly continue their journey—for that time at least.

Going over Niagara falls in a barrel or smothering in a gunpowder factory is inconsequent compared with this feat, which sends shivers up the spine at the mere description and which is in reality one of the most spectacular, sensational, electrifying and tremendously thrilling ever witnessed and which no other flier is duplicating or attempting.

Every day Ruth Law and her nerve tingling turn will be the supreme attraction at the Kentucky State Fair, and on two afternoons of the week George Mayland will make his death-defying dive.

BANNER TOBACCO YEAR

Early Crops Insure Great Show For Thirteenth Annual Kentucky State Fair

FOR the first time in the past several years conditions are entirely favorable for tobacco growers, and the crop for 1915 will be an unusually early one. In view of this fact it is more than probable that the tobacco exhibit at the Kentucky State Fair this year will be an interesting and extensive one, with growers of every county competing for the interesting premiums offered. E. S. Rees, superintendent of the department, is making an appeal to growers throughout the state to do their sections proud this season by entering the banner leafage of their crops, and the rivalry will be keen.

Entries for the tobacco department will close Sept. 8, and in the interim application blanks and further information may be had from Evan S. Rees, superintendent, Springfield, Ky., or J. L. Dent, secretary, Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, Ky.

Handsome Programs For State Fair. Handsome programs for all the daily and nightly events of the thirteenth annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville Sept. 13-18, are being prepared by Pat Clark and Harry Leslie, two of the best advertising experts in Louisville.

The books list every special feature, and each of the daily track and horse show events, giving entries, riders and time and place of showing and cover the Midway amusements, the Hippodrome show, band concerts and the great free outdoor affairs, which include the world's wonder, Ruth Law, in her flying exhibition, during which George Mayland dives from the airship with only a parachute between him and instant death.

Advertising space in these programs is choice and may be spoken for by addressing the above named representatives or the Kentucky State Fair offices in Louisville.

State Fair Season Tickets.

Season tickets in book form are being prepared by the Kentucky State Fair management and will go on sale from Aug. 15 to Sept. 11. The books are decidedly economical to Fair visitors, comprising as they do a half dozen day tickets which sell singly at 50 cents at the Fair gate, but the half dozen go for $2. The night tickets, which are good after 6 o'clock and may be used both at the admission gate, and the Hippodrome show in the Pavilion, sell for $1 for six. Books will be forwarded to out of town purchasers upon the receipt of postoffice money orders for the number of books desired. Address all applications and inquiries to J. L. During the coming year men's rings especially are going to be in big demand, these will be set with "Hellers" reconstructed rubies, genuine amethysts, genuine topaz, and in the ladies rings, Pink shell cameos and Coral cameos will be worn a great deal. When you see a merchant advertisement in the County Newspaper, you can judge pretty well what kind of a merchant he is; why do so many people send away to other places to get their goods? His easy answer, the fellows who advertise lets the people know what they have to sell, and the people send to that merchant because they do not know that the home merchant has that particular thing to sell.

Doing Their Duty

Scores of Barbourville Readers are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are weak.

Backache and other kidney ills may follow.

Help the kidneys do their work. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the tested kidney remedy.

Proof of their worth in the following:

A. J. Beever, merchant, Main St. Jellico, Tenn., says: "After recovering from a serious illness, I found that my kidneys were in bad shape. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular, causing me great annoyance and I also suffered from backache.

Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I felt better and I continued their use until I was well. The credit for this cure belongs entirely to Doan's Kidney Pills."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Beever is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Beever had. 50c all stores. ## OLDEST RED MAN INDORSES TANLAC

Remedy Filled Him With New Energy and Vigor After Many Years

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 2, 1915. Among those to indorse Tanlac recently is Fred Meinecke, a retired hardware dealer, of 2522 West Jefferson street, this city, who found speedy relief from chronic stomach trouble by use of the premier preparation. Mr. Meinecke, who is sixty-eight years old and the oldest member of the Order of Red Men in Kentucky, said:

"I was suffering from stomach trouble for many years. Finally my condition became so serious that I was forced to retire from business. I was unable to retain even the lightest foods on my stomach, and had the most severe pains imaginable in my abdominal regions after eating. I suffered from headaches, nervousness, and dizziness, and found it difficult to sleep.

"After being advised by friends to try Tanlac, and seeing it advertised in the newspaper, I decided to try it. I was astonished at the result. After taking a few doses my appetite returned and I found that I could eat anything I craved with relish. The nervousness and dizziness disappeared and my sleep became restful and peaceful. I no longer suffer from pains in the abdomen and head.

"I can do as much work as I ever could and feel as well as I did 20 years ago, before I became affected with stomach trouble."

Tanlac, the premier preparation, is sold in Barbourville Ky. at The Herndon Drug Company's Drug Store. adv.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed for ever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

ALONG THE LINE OF EDUCATION

The Subject of This Sketch is John And His Hat

There may be those who will wonder at the eccentricity of this subject. It may as well be designated something else, as "John and his hat," but the reason I choose to give it this particular appellation is because so many distinguished and highly renowned persons were John's hat, let us consider a few:

There is John The Baptist, who baptized Christ in the river Jordan.

There is John Bunyan, who wrote the famous allegory Pilgrim's Progress.

There is John Milton, the blind poet.

There is John Smith, the founder and father of Jamestown Colony.

There is John Alden, who believed in helping yourself if you would be well served.

There is John Gilpin, the famous rider.

There is John Adams, our second President.

There is John Quincy Adams, who grew up and got to be President like his pap.

There is John D. Rockefeller, who has eight hundred million dollars with which to buy things.

There is John Ruskin, a noted man of letters.

There is John Lock, the great philosopher.

There is John Fox, Jr., author of Trail of the Lonesome Pine.

There is John A. Black, the banker.

There is John W. Hughes, the Old Wheel Horse, and there is John H. Baker, our old friend and pedagogue.

It is not so much difference what kind of hat John wears. It may be a John B. Stetson, or it may be an ole sun-scorched weather-beaten straw, like that old hat I wear. The thing of chief moment is what John carries under his hat. There are a great many elements which John must carry under his hat to make him a man, a model man and by the way when I say a model man I would not have you place upon the term the same construction which the young lady did. She was a very fair young damsel and the friends and neighbors were very much interested in her matrimonial welfare. So they persistently urged upon her the vast importance of marrying a model husband, not being well versed in lexicographical lore, and being very anxious to know whether Charley, that long cherished lover of hers, would fill the bill, she meekly applied to Webster for assistance on the word model, as she turned through the ponderous volume she came to the M's. With trembling hands and scarlet cheeks she scanned the column till she came to the word in question, and lo! behold! she read, model, a small imitation of the real thing.

I do not mean that kind of model, I mean a real model that is "a man for all that." The first element we are to consider which John must carry under his hat is a level head and I do not necessarily mean by a level head that he must wear his hair parted in the middle, however he may with just as much propriety wear it that way as parted on the side, or conform to the more modern and popular fashion of combing it back all around giving his head a striking resemblance to an infuriated hedge-hog.

There are at least three essential things for John to know requisite to a level head. He must know, what to do, how to do and when to do.

We find an example of a level headed man in the person of George Washington, the great father of our country. We find him at one time during our titanic struggle far independence hemmed in by the Delaware with its huge block of threatening ice on one side of him and the powerful British army on the other, with apparently no hope of escape. He knew that he must slip away from the enemy, he knew that he must do this by waiting till night, leaving his campfires burning and taking his army around by way of county road. He knew when to act by waiting till the enemy slept.

The second quality which John must carry under his hat is an honest heart, a heart that will be honest in directing his motives, will help him to discern and over the right and eschew the wrong a heart that will prompt him to adhere strictly to the golden rule Do unto others as you have others do unto you. A heart that will enable him to be humble and conform to divine principles.

In other words, a heart that will inspire him to be honest with himself, with his fellowman and with his God.

A third element which must be sheltered by John's hat is willing hands. Hands that are willing to administer to the pleading calls of charity, hands that are willing to cheerfully respond to the demands of public service, hands that are willing to offer their services to morality's rescue.

For the fourth element we would name careful feet. Feet that are careful where they tread Feet that will not carry John into the dram shop and other places of vice and crime. Feet that will not tread upon the hearts of the living and the graves of the dead. But feet that will ever direct his course into the paths of duty.

Last, but not least we would say, John must carry under his hat a patriotic breast. Patriotic for home, patriotic for school, patriotic for community, patriotic for state, patriotic for Nation.

He should have such profound reverence for home that he could say with the poet, "Mid pleasures and palaces though I may roam, Be it ever so humble there is no place like home."

He should be patriotic enough to want to see his school the best in the county and his state the most progressive in the Union.

He should at least have such interest in the community that if the local ball team were engaged in a close game and his boys were at the bats with three men on bases and a force run pending, and John Jones knocks a home run, he should be enthused enough to throw his hat into the air and say, "hurrah for the Cripple Creek boys."

Patriotism should be so thoroughly aflame in his breast that when he views our National banner, he should at least feel if he does not say, may she ever stand firmly clasped in the sinewy hand of our great republic, and may she ever peacefully wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

Tourists

A couple of Ford automobiles bearing five tourists, who started from Columbia City, Ind., on a tour of the Southland, stopped off in this city Sunday.

The trip as told by these men is as follows: Starting from Columbia City, they went to Indianapolis, Ind., then to Louisville, Ky., then to Chickamagua Park, via Lincoln Farm, Bowling Green, Nashville, they went as far South as Decatur, Ala.

They are making their return trip by way of Knoxville, Middleboro, Pineville, Barbourville, Corbin, and they will take the Wildcat route to Crab Orchard.

Two of the party are Old Soldiers of the Civil War, and were members of the 30th. Indiana Infantry, and were in the battles fought in and around Chickamagua Park, Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge and Lookout Mountain. They are yet good for many years, being spry as boys.

They had a little trouble getting over our new PIKES, having run against one of the small stones in the road and breaking the crank shaft housing on one of their machines and had to wait until McDonald could get a piece of supplies to make the repair. They went the whole route, and in Knox County had their first mishap, and if the pikes had just been completed it would not have happened.

Those in the party as follows: B. F. Cooper, Jonathan Hurd and A. J. Crowel, of Columbia City, Ind., J. E. Knapp, of Kimmell, Ind. and Ambrose Gerkin, of Lorwill, Ind. They are a jolly bunch, and certainly do take life easy.
